

North Carolina's Securities Director Moves into National Investor Protection Spotlight

State and provincial investment industry regulators from around the country voted last month to name North Carolina Deputy Securities Administrator David S. Massey as their organization's new President-elect.

David Massey begins his new leadership role in the North American Securities Administrators Association (

